Investment Strategy

What We Buy

We buy durable, AI-resilient software—not growth stories. We assess each target on its future cash-flow potential, then implement our repeatable operating model to convert that potential into recurring, high-margin cash flow.

Criteria

- B2B software (SaaS or on-premise)
- $10–40M Annual Recurring Revenue
- High gross retention (target ~90%+)
- Under-optimized or operational inefficient
- Limited strategic buyer interest

Exclusions

- Venture-stage growth
- High leverage situations
- Customer acquisition-dependent models

Why We Buy

Revenue Durability

- Software delivering impact to the Cx bottom line
- System of record proximity
- Recurring contracts
- Gross retention typically 85%–95%

IP Defensibility

- Proprietary architecture
- Embedded enterprise workflows
- Regulatory or sector-specific complexity
- Patents where applicable

AI Resilience Assessment

- Can the product be easily replaced by generative AI?
- Is the software mission-critical?
- Does it sit inside regulated or compliance workflows?

The margin recovery path is repeatable: We take advantage of clear cost misalignments and immediate cost reduction opportunities based on our operating model and a disciplined spend allocation.

Market Opportunity: Why This Strategy Now

The current environment creates a pricing and execution advantage for disciplined operators with centralized integration capability.

Capital Dislocation

Private capital has concentrated in high-growth and AI-branded assets, reducing competition for under-optimized mid-market SaaS

Interest Rate Environment

Higher rates have increased debt servicing pressure and reduced refinancing options for sub-scale software businesses

Constrained Buyer Universe

Many under-optimized SaaS assets lack strategic buyers and fall below the scale threshold of larger PE firms.

Under-Optimized Cost Structures

Legacy SaaS businesses often operate with venture-style cost bases inconsistent with recurring revenue profiles.

Unlike traditional buyout strategies that rely on leverage and exit multiples, our model is designed to recover capital from an existing customer base before valuation risk becomes material.

Purchaser's Rights

PURCHASER'S RIGHTS This document may, depending on the circumstances, constitute an offering memorandum under the securities legislation of certain jurisdictions of Canada. In such case, applicable securities legislation provides certain purchasers of securities pursuant to an offering memorandum with a remedy for damages or rescission, or both, in addition to any other rights they may have at law, where the offering memorandum and any amendment thereto and, in some cases, advertising and sales material used in connection therewith, contains a "misrepresentation," as defined in the applicable securities legislation. A "misrepresentation" is generally defined under applicable Canadian securities laws to mean an untrue statement of a material fact or an omission to state a material fact that is required to be stated or that is necessary to make any statement not misleading in light of the circumstances in which it was made. To the extent available, these remedies, or notice with respect to these remedies, must be exercised or delivered, as the case may be, by the purchaser within the time limits prescribed by applicable securities legislation and are subject to limitations and defences under applicable securities legislation. The following is a summary of the relevant rights of action for damages or rescission, or both, that may be available to certain purchasers residing in Ontario and is subject to the express provisions of the securities laws, regulations and rules governing such province and reference is made thereto for the complete text of such provisions. Such provisions may contain limitations and statutory defences not described here on which the issuer and other applicable parties may rely. Prospective Canadian investors should refer to the applicable provisions of the securities legislation of their province for the particulars of these rights or consult with a legal adviser. The rights described below, if available, are in addition to and without derogation from any other right or remedy which Canadian purchasers may have at law and are intended to correspond to the provisions of the relevant securities legislation and are subject to the defences contained therein. Purchasers in Alberta, British Columbia and Quebec are not entitled to the statutory rights. In consideration of their purchase and upon accepting a purchase confirmation in respect thereof, these purchasers are hereby granted a contractual right of action for damages or rescission that is substantially the same as the statutory right of action provided to residents of Ontario who purchase securities of the Fund.

Ontario

Section 130.1 of the Securities Act (Ontario) (the "Ontario Act") provides that every purchaser of securities pursuant to an offering memorandum shall have a statutory right of action for damages or rescission against the issuer and any selling security holder in the event that the offering memorandum contains a misrepresentation. A purchaser who purchases securities offered by the offering memorandum during the period of distribution has, without regard to whether the purchaser relied upon the misrepresentation, a right of action for damages or, alternatively, while still the owner of the securities, for rescission against the issuer and any selling security holder provided that:

(a) if the purchaser exercises its right of rescission, it shall cease to have a right of action for damages as against the issuer and the selling security holders, if any;

(b) the issuer and the selling security holders, if any, will not be liable if it proves that the purchaser purchased the securities with knowledge of the misrepresentation;

(c) the issuer and the selling security holders, if any, will not be liable for all or any portion of damages that it proves do not represent the depreciation in value of the securities as a result of the misrepresentation relied upon;

(d) the issuer and the selling security holders, if any, will not be liable for a misrepresentation in "forward looking information" ("FLI"), as such term is defined under applicable Canadian securities laws, if it proves that: (i) the offering memorandum contains, proximate to the FLI, reasonable cautionary language identifying the FLI as such, and identifying material factors that could cause actual results to differ materially from a conclusion, forecast or projection set out in the FLI, and a statement of material factors or assumptions that were applied in drawing a conclusion or making a forecast or projection set out in the FLI; and (ii) the issuer had a reasonable basis for drawing the conclusions or making the forecasts and projections set out in the FLI; and

(e) in no case shall the amount recoverable exceed the price at which the securities were offered.

Section 138 of the Ontario Act provides that no action shall be commenced to enforce these rights more than:

(a) in the case of an action for rescission, 180 days after the date of the transaction that gave rise to the cause of action; or

(b) in the case of an action for damages, the earlier of: (i) 180 days after the date that the purchaser first had knowledge of the facts giving rise to the cause of action; or (ii) three years after the date of the transaction that gave rise to the cause of action.

The rights referred to in section 130.1 of the Ontario Act do not apply in respect of an offering memorandum delivered to a prospective purchaser in connection with a distribution made in reliance on the accredited investor exemption if the prospective purchaser is (a) a Canadian financial institution or a Schedule III bank (each as defined in NI 45-106); (b) the Business Development Bank of Canada incorporated under the Business Development Bank of Canada Act (Canada); or (c) a subsidiary of any person referred to in paragraphs (a) and (b), if the person owns all of the voting securities of the subsidiary, except the voting securities required by law to be owned by directors of that subsidiary.
