The SaaSpocolypse has run it's course

It's time to pick up the pieces.

Capital has abandoned sub-scale technology faster than customers have left the products. This creates a pricing and execution advantage for disciplined operators with centralized integration capability.

What Creates the Opportunity

Capital Rotation

Growth capital has concentrated around AI and high-growth assets.

Seller Pressure

Slower growth and refinancing constraints have narrowed the options available to owners

buyer gap

Durable assets are too mature for venture investors but too small for larger PE funds

The upshot: an orphaned segment of durable businesses with recurring customers, limited buyer competition, and recoverable margins. We tracked more than 200 such companies with a combined ARR over $1.5B from distress to disposition in 2026.

Prytaneum Strategy

We underwrite each acquisition on the cash its existing customers can generate—and the margin recovery our operating model can deliver.

What We Do

- Acquire proven businesses under pressure
- Restore operating margin within four quarters
- Generate early, recurring cash distributions for LPs

Differentiation

- Debt-free acquisitions and 100% ownership
- Centralized operational control
- Underwriting focussed on operating cash - not growth projections

Fund Overview

- $200M target, 10-year closed-end fund
- Operating cash funds additional acquisitions
- Direct-investment SPV opportunities

We target clear cost misalignments that our centralized operating model can address through disciplined spending and a repeatable margin-recovery plan.

Prytaneum Acquisition Profile

We assess each target on its future cash-flow potential, then implement our repeatable operating model to convert that potential into recurring, high-margin cash flow.

Criteria

- B2B technology
- Low or negative profitability
- $10–$60M Annual Recurring Revenue
- Under-optimized or operationally inefficient

Exclusions

- Venture-stage, growth dependent businesses
- Customer acquisition-dependent models
- Commodity software and task-based tools readily replaced by AI

We commonly see flat growth, capital exhausted, VC orphaned, bankruptcy, over-levered, liquidity constraints from these assets.

What makes an Asset Investable

Revenue Durability

- Measurable impact on customer results
- Embedded in or adjacent to systems of record
- Recurring contracts
- Pre-acquisition gross retention typically 70%–95%

IP Defensibility

- Proprietary architecture
- Embedded enterprise workflows
- Regulatory or sector-specific complexity
- Patents where applicable

AI Resilience

- Can the product be easily replaced by generative AI?
- Is the technology mission-critical?
- Does it sit inside regulated or compliance workflows?

The margin recovery path is repeatable for all portfolio companies.

Clear cost misalignments and immediate cost reductions allow existing customer revenue to fund our operations, early distributions, and portfolio expansion before an exit is required. We do not chase growth multiples.

Cash Production

Our centralized team and operating platform targets 50% net margins within four quarters of acquisition.

Our team brings a proven track record running a comparable buy-and-hold roll-up model for a private-equity firm, delivering materially higher results.

Portfolio Company Revival Timeline

First 90 Days

- Zero-based budgeting
- Headcount and vendor reset
- Product rationalization
- Pricing discipline

Stabilization (Q2–4)

- Centralized shared services
- Target 50% net margins
- Establish operating discipline
- Prioritize product roadmap by customer value

Cash Allocation

- Operating cash flow surplus
- Surplus directed by priority:
  a. Return of capital
  b. Preferred return
  c. Additional acquisitions
  d. Ongoing distributions

Fix the business. Fund the next one.

We buy durable revenue, convert it to cash, and compound without leverage.

Different by Design

We combine full ownership, shared services, and proprietary operating technology to apply the same disciplines across the portfolio.

Our structural decisions:

100% Equity Ownership

Full control enables decisive action

Shared Services

Unified backbone reduces cost and risk

AI-Native PlatForm

Proprietary technology supports diligence and operations

Enable our outcomes:

Early Distributions

Expected to begin four quarters after the first Fund acquisition

Management Fees

Designed to be supported by operating cash

Proven Execution

Consistent integration and stabilization across acquired businesses

Built to deliver cash while we operate - not just when we exit.

PURCHASER'S RIGHTS

PURCHASER'S RIGHTS This document may, depending on the circumstances, constitute an offering memorandum under the securities legislation of certain jurisdictions of Canada. In such case, applicable securities legislation provides certain purchasers of securities pursuant to an offering memorandum with a remedy for damages or rescission, or both, in addition to any other rights they may have at law, where the offering memorandum and any amendment thereto and, in some cases, advertising and sales material used in connection therewith, contains a "misrepresentation," as defined in the applicable securities legislation. A "misrepresentation" is generally defined under applicable Canadian securities laws to mean an untrue statement of a material fact or an omission to state a material fact that is required to be stated or that is necessary to make any statement not misleading in light of the circumstances in which it was made. To the extent available, these remedies, or notice with respect to these remedies, must be exercised or delivered, as the case may be, by the purchaser within the time limits prescribed by applicable securities legislation and are subject to limitations and defences under applicable securities legislation. The following is a summary of the relevant rights of action for damages or rescission, or both, that may be available to certain purchasers residing in Ontario and is subject to the express provisions of the securities laws, regulations and rules governing such province and reference is made thereto for the complete text of such provisions. Such provisions may contain limitations and statutory defences not described here on which the issuer and other applicable parties may rely. Prospective Canadian investors should refer to the applicable provisions of the securities legislation of their province for the particulars of these rights or consult with a legal adviser. The rights described below, if available, are in addition to and without derogation from any other right or remedy which Canadian purchasers may have at law and are intended to correspond to the provisions of the relevant securities legislation and are subject to the defences contained therein. Purchasers in Alberta, British Columbia and Quebec are not entitled to the statutory rights. In consideration of their purchase and upon accepting a purchase confirmation in respect thereof, these purchasers are hereby granted a contractual right of action for damages or rescission that is substantially the same as the statutory right of action provided to residents of Ontario who purchase securities of the Fund.

Ontario

Section 130.1 of the Securities Act (Ontario) (the "Ontario Act") provides that every purchaser of securities pursuant to an offering memorandum shall have a statutory right of action for damages or rescission against the issuer and any selling security holder in the event that the offering memorandum contains a misrepresentation. A purchaser who purchases securities offered by the offering memorandum during the period of distribution has, without regard to whether the purchaser relied upon the misrepresentation, a right of action for damages or, alternatively, while still the owner of the securities, for rescission against the issuer and any selling security holder provided that:

(a) if the purchaser exercises its right of rescission, it shall cease to have a right of action for damages as against the issuer and the selling security holders, if any;

(b) the issuer and the selling security holders, if any, will not be liable if it proves that the purchaser purchased the securities with knowledge of the misrepresentation;

(c) the issuer and the selling security holders, if any, will not be liable for all or any portion of damages that it proves do not represent the depreciation in value of the securities as a result of the misrepresentation relied upon;

(d) the issuer and the selling security holders, if any, will not be liable for a misrepresentation in "forward looking information" ("FLI"), as such term is defined under applicable Canadian securities laws, if it proves that: (i) the offering memorandum contains, proximate to the FLI, reasonable cautionary language identifying the FLI as such, and identifying material factors that could cause actual results to differ materially from a conclusion, forecast or projection set out in the FLI, and a statement of material factors or assumptions that were applied in drawing a conclusion or making a forecast or projection set out in the FLI; and (ii) the issuer had a reasonable basis for drawing the conclusions or making the forecasts and projections set out in the FLI; and

(e) in no case shall the amount recoverable exceed the price at which the securities were offered.

Section 138 of the Ontario Act provides that no action shall be commenced to enforce these rights more than:

(a) in the case of an action for rescission, 180 days after the date of the transaction that gave rise to the cause of action; or

(b) in the case of an action for damages, the earlier of: (i) 180 days after the date that the purchaser first had knowledge of the facts giving rise to the cause of action; or (ii) three years after the date of the transaction that gave rise to the cause of action.

The rights referred to in section 130.1 of the Ontario Act do not apply in respect of an offering memorandum delivered to a prospective purchaser in connection with a distribution made in reliance on the accredited investor exemption if the prospective purchaser is (a) a Canadian financial institution or a Schedule III bank (each as defined in NI 45-106); (b) the Business Development Bank of Canada incorporated under the Business Development Bank of Canada Act (Canada); or (c) a subsidiary of any person referred to in paragraphs (a) and (b), if the person owns all of the voting securities of the subsidiary, except the voting securities required by law to be owned by directors of that subsidiary.
